Dangers of Pneumonia

A cold at this time if neglected is liable to cause pneumonia which is so often fatal, and even when the patient has recovered the lungs are weakened, making them peculiarly susceptible to the development of consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar will stop the cough, heal and strengthen the lungs and prevent pneumonia. La Grippe coughs yield quickly to the wonderful curative qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar. There is nothing else "just as good." J. H. Orme.

AN OLD GERMAN LEGEND.

The Skull With the Nail Driven Through Its Temple.

At Freiburg, Baden, in front of an old chapel rich in mediaeval painting depicting the rewards of virtue and the wages of sin, stands a great cross, at its foot a skull with a nail driven into the temple.

A shoemaker of Freiburg, according to tradition, died suddenly in the good old days before coroners and juries were too inquisitive and was buried near where the cross stands. Scarcely had the earth upon his grave been wet by the rains before his wife took a second husband.

Neighbors talked, but that was all. One night the priest of the parish awoke to find standing at the foot of his bed the ghost of the dead shoemaker. The ghastly figure raised a gory lock from his forehead and pointed to a nail driven in the temple.

The body was exhumed, and there was the evidence of the crime just as the specter had indicated. The wife confessed the murder and was executed. But the skull was placed at the foot of the cross as a warning.

"The effect was most wholesome," relates the truthful chronicler, "for since then not a wife of Freiburg has murdered her husband."

Rising From the Grave

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fervell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed at Haynes & Taylor's druggist. Price only 50c.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Both Agreeable and Effective

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, colds and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Pelham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by J. H. Orme, the leading druggist in western Ky.

REVERSED BY THE PEOPLE.

English Voters Call a Halt as to Municipal Ownership.

The most dramatic incident in the history of municipal government occurred on Nov. 1, when the greatest city in the world reversed its policy in regard to municipal ownership by an overwhelming vote. For several years the "Progressives," as the municipal ownership party called itself, have controlled the London county council, which has charge of most matters affecting the city as a whole, and of seventeen of the twenty-eight borough councils, which deal with local matters, one borough being nonpartisan. After the borough council election on Nov. 1 this party was left in control of but two boroughs, having elected with their allies, the so-called "Laborites," only 202 councilmen out of 1,362. That it was a popular and not a class victory is shown by the fact that the "Progressives" were beaten worst in the boroughs where the heaviest vote was cast.

Such a political upheaval must have an adequate cause, and the cause in the case was the rapid increase in taxes, and consequently rents, which resulted from the taking over by the city or its boroughs of tramways, electric lighting, waterworks, etc., the building of luxurious public baths and other expenditures of public money out of all proportion to the results attained. This lavishness had raised the borough tax rate in the boroughs controlled by the "Progressives" 40 per cent above the rate in the other boroughs. A few examples of the losses incurred may be of interest.

In Islington the street lighting costs nearly three times as much per mile as in the boroughs lighted by private companies. In St. Pancras the cost is nearly as high, while in Woolwich, in spite of the high cost, the loss for the current year is expected to reach $50,000. In Bermondsey and Southwark the councils have refused an offer from a private company to light the streets at half the cost under municipal management. The same condition exists in commercial lighting, for the Aerated Bread company found that the bills for its depots in municipally lighted boroughs were 115 per cent higher than the rate paid to private companies.

In Shoreditch the palatial public baths, built within a stone's throw of baths erected by a local philanthropist, are now closed for lack of custom, though interest must still be paid on the investment and the borough has lost the taxes previously paid by the property. And in Poplar each bath taken in the public baths costs the taxpayers 20 cents in addition to what the bather pays for his ticket.

In this borough cases were proved in which outdoor relief was given to families earning $500 a year, equivalent to $850 in this country, while the fare in the workhouse was better than could be afforded by the average independent wage earner.

Examples of this sort could be multiplied indefinitely, and the same conditions exist in the work carried on by the London county council, which, for example, is paying 47 per cent more for inferior brickwork than the standard contract price for the best work. The failure of its municipal ferry is typical of its waste of public money, and the county council election to be held next spring is expected to result similarly to the borough council election.

The Pall Mall Gazette sums the situation up by saying: "You may confiscate capital, but you cannot confiscate that mighty force of self interest which belongs to the great generating station of all human activity. Municipal trading, conducted by amateurs and financed out of an open and bottomless pocket, can never be more than a weak and false imitation of real commerce and industry. If the city council collected its capital by the issue of prospectuses to the public, who would invest a sovereign on the faith of its promises or the reputation of its directing committees? And if the ratepayer is wise he will take care that his money does not find its way by compulsion into speculations where he most assuredly would never place it by choice."

Taxes Rising in Scotland.

Consul Rufus Fleming of Edinburgh calls attention in a recent report to the fact that during the ten years ending 1904 local taxation per capita has increased more than 42 per cent. He further states that taxes are especially high in Glasgow, Aberdeen and Paisley, the three Scotch cities that have gone deepest into municipal ownership, and adds that "the conclusion seems unavoidable that, whatever benefits municipal ownership may have bestowed upon the masses, it has not tended to lighten the burdens of taxpayers." This is emphasized by the added fact that during the last fiscal year of the series the running expenses of all of the revenue producing municipal undertakings of Scotland exceeded the receipts by 10 per cent in spite of the ridiculously small depreciation allowance and the transferring to other accounts of large items of expense.

Want to Let Go, but Can't.

Do you remember how you felt the first time you took hold of an electric battery? It felt rather pleasant at first, but as the operator turned on more current it became very unpleasant, and you wanted to let go, but couldn't. That's the way most citizens feel in places where the city does its own lighting. They've got hold of an electric plant and want to let go, but can't.

Bonds for municipal plants increase taxes. Taxes increase the cost of living and of doing business.

WHEN THE DO

It's agin' all laws o' fishin' an' fermin' th' book o' rules; Scientific anglers scorn it as the instrument o' fools! But, durn me, I jist like it, spite o' that there city snob— For there's nothin' like a bobber, An' I love a bob!

When th' sun is risin' yell'er an' th' birds is wakin' up, Fillin' all th' world with singin', fillin' full joy's brimmin' cup— Then I sort er git excited with my hick'ry pole an' cob An' I tickle in my denims When I see a bob!

Ain't no use fer fancy tackle, bristol rod, 'er whirr'in' reel Gittin' tangled like o' whiskey makes a feller's brain cells feel— But, gee whillikens, I'm happy with th' risin' o' the sun When th' bobber gits to bobbin' And the string— in' be— is

First she trembles on th' water an' th' circles broaden wide, Ripplin' inter baby billers, sputt'rin' onward with th' tide; Then she jumps like all creation, does that jiggin', teet'rin' cob, Gittin' me all flushed an' flutt'rin' Count o' that there bin' bob!

An' when night comes I turn homeward, loaded down with string o' fish, S'prisin' all them city fellers—causin' them t' wish and wish They had thrun away ther rigg'in', reel an' all—an' smoked a cob, Fishin' like a "native" fishes With a stick pole an' a bob!

THE SNOW MAN'S ROMANCE

A snow man made love to a pretty snow drift. Way down in the orchard where all was quite still! He stretched forth his arms in a pleading of love. But this little snow drift was haughty and chill! The snow man loved on in his own patient way Until the cold snow drift was softened and won! Then, suddenly, burst through the dark clouds o'erhead A heat that was called by the South Wind, the Sun! It melted the man that was moulded of snow. It thawed all the pretty snow drift in a day! And gladly their lives did the two lovers join To sing in a river, forever, away!

By The Old Road Bridge

There's a heap o' joy in a linen string an' a bamboo pole an' bait On the bayou bank by th' old-road bridge, when th' day is gittin' late!

No, it ain't so much that th' big fish bite er th' shiners jerk th' line, But there's heaven there in th' eventide, an' a quaff o' sunset wine!

Then th' golden glow o' th' painted west is a deep'nin' fast to red! An' th' chirpin' birds say their sweet good night as they flutter off to bed!

List th' low of cows, an' the whistling boy as he plods behind th' herd! Ah! there's peace an' rest in th' twilight time when th' leaves are scarcely stirred!

An' it's wuth yer while t' be livin' then, jest to sort o' dream and wait On th' bayou bank by th' old-road bridge, when th' day is gittin' late!
